HOW U. S. CHAMBER BACKED UP D. C.'S

J. T. Lloyd Tells Chamber of Commerce Directors of Indorsement at Atlantic City.

How the United States Chamber of Commerce, at its recent convention in Atlantic City, adopted the resolution for national representation for the District of Columbia, was related last night by James T. Lloyd, speaking before the board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Com-

After a talk by A. E. Berry, president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, the board indorsed the proposed increase in the telephone rates for this city.

Gen. Pershing to Be Guest. It was announced that Gen. J. J. Pershing will be the honor guest at the next full meeting of the chamber, to be held at the New Willard Hotel the next full meeting of the chamber, to be held at the New Willard Hotel Friday, May 14.

Mr. Lloyd, in speaking of the national representation resolution, told in detail of the various steps taken by the delegates from the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade and the almost insurmountable difficulties over one to restline the and the almost insurmountable dif-ficulties overcome in getting the mat-ter before the convention. He said that the delegates from the two Washington trade bodies worked as one man and accomplished that which seemed impossible.

"The preliminary step," said Mr. oyd, "was to bring the matter be-"The preliminary step, ball and Lloyd, "was to bring the matter before the members of the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and this was done by R. N. Harper, who secured the promise of Homer L. Ferguson, president of the national body, to give it consideration in the board meeting. Adopted Without Dissent.

"The board of directors adopted the resolution without a dissenting vote," continued Mr. Lloyd, "and it was then passed on to the resolutions committee, before which Mr. Harper and John Joy Edson appeared. This committee likewise adopted the resolutions committee likewise adopted the resolution by unanimous vote.

"The resolution was then introduced at the convention and adopted with only one dissenting vote," safd
Mr. Lloyd.

Mr. Lloyd said that the resolution actually took the delegated body by storm, and added that the unanimous adoption by the board of directors adoption by the board of directors and the resolutions committee was considered remarkable by those in close touch with the affairs of the United States Chamber.

An interesting sidelight on the "one dissenting vote" in the convention was given by Mr. Lloyd. It seems that Mr. Lloyd and William Gude were returning to Washington soon after the final adoption of the resolution. While on the train they met the man who had opposed the measure. They mentioned the fact that they were from the District of Columbia, to which the man replied that he really did not have any opposition to the resolution, but made it a practice to oppose everything to start debate on the subject.

As a matter of fact, according to Mr. Lloyd, the opposition by the one man gained no support with the convention, and gave Mr. Harper an opportunity to address the convention as to just why Washington needed national representation.

The following delegates from the Washington trade bodies assisted Mr. Harper and Mr. Lloyd in getting the resolution adopted: John Joy Edson, W. F. Gude, E. C. Graham, Louis Holmes, C. C. Calhoun and E. H. Schneider.

ber, at which Gen. Pershing will be present, will be in the nature of a special meeting, it was decided last night. The executive committee will have chrge of the issuance of tickets and will work out the program. It is understood that Col. W. C. Rivers, commandant at Fort Myor.

will also give selections.

A letter was read from A. H. Coolidge, chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, advocating immediate steps on the part of the chamber regarding a new ice and fire boat on the Potomac to take care of the ice jams above the Aqueduct bridge.

bridge.

After some discussion the matter was referred back to the committee for more complete information. It is expected to report at the next meeting.

It was announced that the law and legislation committee, of which Mr. Lloyd is chairman, will hold a meeting Friday night at the Willard Hotel at 6:30 o'clock to investigate the proposed change in the lunacy law of the District.
